Market Research & Social Media Strategy – Local Dog Treat Brand

Abhishek Pathak – Marketing & Strategy

CONTEXT

A local dog treat brand in Calgary sought to increase brand awareness and customer engagement through social media. The goal was to build a strong digital presence and connect more effectively with pet owners.

PROBLEM

The brand faced several growth challenges:

- Low engagement across social platforms
 - Lack of consistent content strategy
 - Limited differentiation in a crowded pet product market

INSIGHTS

Analysis of competitor content and audience behavior revealed:

- Emotional and relatable content featuring pets drives significantly higher engagement
 - Short-form video (Reels, TikTok) consistently outperforms static content
 - Consumers trust authentic, user-generated content more than polished ads
 - Many local competitors lack consistency, creating an opportunity to stand out

ACTION

I developed a content-led growth strategy focused on authenticity and consistency.

Key recommendations included:

- Content Strategy: Prioritize short-form video content showcasing pets and real experiences
 - Engagement Approach: Use storytelling and interactive content to build community
 - User-Generated Content: Encourage customers to share their pets using the product
 - Content Calendar: Maintain a consistent posting schedule to improve visibility and reach

IMPACT

This approach enables the brand to:

- Increase engagement and social visibility
- Build trust through authentic content
- Strengthen connection with its target audience
- Create a scalable foundation for long-term growth
